

World leaders in client-led intelligence
on the legal profession

2013

Gibbs Giden Locher Turner Senet & Wittbrodt LLP

THE FIRM

This California construction practice is known for its prowess in litigation. Recently, the team successfully acted for the City of Victorville on a claim relating to design faults of a $60 million power plant project. The group represents a number of major construction names, such as Swinerton Builders and Layton Construction, and other key clients include the City of Glendale and the City of Huntington Beach. The firm also has an increasing presence in the energy sector, and is currently retained by a number of key solar manufacturers, such as Suntech Power Holdings and SunWize. Sources say: "The firm has done outstanding work at a reasonable price, and has achieved excellent results."

KEY INDIVIDUALS

Department head Glenn Turner enjoys an impressive reputation for his work on insurance-related construction matters. He wins applause from sources for being "practical in his approach and effective in the courtroom."

The well-respected Barbara Gadbois acts for a number of major developers on various residential projects in San Francisco and Los Angeles. She is known for her negotiation skills.

Marion Hack offers expertise in a range of transactional construction matters and disputes. She receives high praise from market commentators, who find that she "always knows what the facts are and always puts together a very practical solution. She is clearly going to be a star."

Richard Wittbrodt is a well-known construction practitioner and has recently advised on the construction of a $200 million regional medical center. "He is brilliant, very good at analysis and does an excellent job representing his client," sources say.

- From Chambers USA Online 2013